

NO CLASS LEGISLATION.
Equal Rights For All, Special Privileges to None.

In a speech delivered before a free silver convention at Griffin, Ga., Senator Morgan of Alabama rehearsed the stale theories of the silver standard advocates, and closed his exposition of the free coinage gospel with the declaration that the silverites demanded "equal rights for all, special privileges to none." This doctrine of equality before the law is one which appeals to every fair minded American, and it is the belief that silver is denied privileges granted to gold which has led many to support the agitation for free coinage. But there is no ground for such a claim. On the contrary the proposition that the government should coin into money at a fixed ratio all the silver of this or other countries which might be brought to the mints is a direct violation of the principles of equal rights.

All that the government does for gold is to stamp it with a certificate of its weight and fineness. The legal tender quality of gold coin adds nothing to its commercial value. If the government were to stop the coinage of gold tomorrow, the value of that metal would remain the same. And the adoption of gold as the standard of values has not increased the value of the products of the gold miner. The same could be said of silver were it merely proposed to coin that metal at its true commercial value. The most extreme "goldbug" of the silverite's imagination would not object to free coinage of silver dollars if each coin contained a full dollar's worth of silver. The objection to such action on the part of the government is that it would involve a great and useless expense for mintage, as the commercial value of silver continually changes, and it would be necessary to make new coins whenever silver became cheaper or dearer. But the demand of the free silver advocates is not for the coinage of both metals at their commercial value, but for the unlimited coinage of silver, with only 50 cents, into coins which will be legal tender in payment for goods or of debts equal to gold coins, worth twice as much. In other words, they seek to compel the government to give one class, the producers of silver, the right to have the value of their products doubled by setting a fictitious value on it. This is what free coinage at 16 to 1 really means, and if adopted it would make the silver miners a privileged class at the expense of the whole people.

That this is true is recognized by all the leading Populists, who have demanded that the government should go farther and give the owners of staple farm products the right to have their crops stored in government warehouses and to receive money based on them. In this the Populists are consistent with their paternalistic views, but very inconsistent with the Jeffersonian doctrine of equal rights. The true remedy for any violation of this great principle is not the granting of special privileges to the farmers as well as to silver miners, but the repeal of all class legislation and steadfast opposition to all financial schemes involving government aid to any special interest.

HATRED OF ENGLAND.

The "English Octopus" the Best Customer For American Products.

Coin resorts to the familiar and well worn appeal to the prejudice which some people in this country are supposed to feel against England. The people of that country have the same religion, the same laws and the same language as ourselves. We did fight in years gone by, but we are now united by the closest ties of business and friendship. The English octopus, as coin calls it, is really a country that is our best customer for wheat, for cotton, for beef, for petroleum and for Yankee notions. He says it "feeds on nothing but gold." In fact, however, it feeds on the wheat, the coffee, the sugar of South America, the tea of China—in short, the natural or manufactured products of every part of the world, all of which it pays for. American investors draw great sums in royalties from this "octopus." It does not get any gold worth speaking of from Asia, from Africa or from South America. Whatever gold it does get is a natural product and a source of profit to those who produce and export it. In short, the whole octopus business, like the other delectable illustrations in "Coin's School," is a delusion and a snare. The worst thing that could happen to this country would be the ruin of England. No merchant would look with satisfaction on the ruin of his best customer.

Another favorite argument of the free silver advocates is that England first adopted the gold standard and has grown rich by it, and that, therefore, it must be bad for other countries. Let us note two things in this connection:

First.—England first adopted trial by jury and the writ of habeas corpus. She first enforced the principle of freedom that no man should be deprived of life, liberty or property but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land. Shall we discard these sacred muniments of liberty because they are of English origin?

Second.—If England has prospered under the gold standard, why not the United States? Certainly no country ever became really prosperous by the ruin of its neighbors. In the great commonwealth of nations the prosperity of one makes trade with all and helps to enrich all.—From Everett P. Wheeler's "Real Bimetallism."
